DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claim 17-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
3. Claim 17 recites the limitation "said first set of one or more globally unique port numbers" in line 5. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claim 1, 3-5, 7, 9-13 and 15-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Borella et al. (US 6,697,354).

The applied reference has a common assignee with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention “by another,” or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

Regarding to claim 1, Borella teaches a method for address management of mobile nodes, said method comprising the steps of: receiving a registration request message from a first mobile node (Column 1 Line 46-47); assigning a first range of globally unique port numbers to said first mobile node (See Figure 5, Column 7 Line 44-45 and Column 9 Line 20-24); and transmitting said first range of globally unique port numbers to said first mobile node (Column 11 Line 36-38).

Regarding to claim 3, Borella teaches assigning a network address to said first mobile node; and transmitting said network address to said first mobile node (Column 7 Line 9-10).

Regarding to claim 4, Borella teaches said network address is an Internet Protocol (IP) address (Column 7 Line 10).

Regarding to claim 5, Borella teaches said network address can be shared with a second mobile node (Column 7 Line 9-10).

Regarding to claim 7, Borella teaches assigning a second range of globally unique port numbers to said second mobile node, wherein said first and second ranges are disjoint (Column 7 Line 44-45, Column 11 Line 15-21).

Regarding to claim 9, Borella teaches said registration request message includes a care-of address for said first mobile node (step 262 in Figure 18).

Regarding to claim 10, Borella teaches associating said care-of address with said first range of globally unique port numbers (step 262 in Figure 18).

Regarding to claim 11, Borella teaches assigning a network address to said first mobile node (Column 7 Line 9-10); and associating said care-of address with said network address and said first range of globally unique port numbers (step 262 in Figure 18).

Regarding to claim 12, Borella teaches receiving data packets destined for said network address and a port number in said first range of globally unique port numbers (Column 25 Line 24-30); and forwarding said data packets to said care-of address (Column 25 Line 65 – Column 26 Line 5).

Regarding to claim 13, Borella teaches a system for address management of mobile nodes, said mobile nodes including at least a first mobile and a second mobile node, said system comprising: a home agent 278, said home agent transmitting registration reply messages in response to valid registration request messages; and a home agent database 118 accessible by said home agent, said home agent database containing at least a first data record and a second data record, said first data record identifying a first network address and a first range of globally unique port numbers for said first mobile node, said second data record identifying said network address and a second range of globally unique port numbers for said second mobile node. wherein said first and second sets are disjoint (Column 11 Line 15-21).

Regarding to claim 15, Borella teaches said first data record includes a first care-of address for said first mobile node, said first care-of address being different from said first network address (step 262 in Figure 18).

Regarding to claim 16, Borella teaches said network address is an Internet Protocol (IP) address (Column 7 Line 10).

Regarding to claim 17, Borella teaches a foreign agent 288, coupled to said home agent 278 via an intermediate network; and a foreign agent database 118 accessible by said foreign agent, said foreign agent database containing a visitor data record for said first mobile node, said visitor data record including said network address and said first set of one or more globally unique port numbers for said first mobile node (Column 11 Line 15-21).

Regarding to claim 18, Borella teaches said visitor data record includes a local address of said first mobile station (Column 23 Line 53-55) .

Regarding to claim 19, Borella teaches said care-of address station is an Internet Protocol (IP) address (296 in Figure 19).

Regarding to claim 20, Borella teaches said first care-of address is an external IP address associated with said foreign agent (296 in Figure 19).

Regarding to claim 21, Borella teaches said visitor data record includes an IP address of said home agent (step 258 in Figure 18).

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claim 8 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 1, 3-5, 7-13 and 15-21 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
